

Tempe Department.

TEMPE, ARIZONA, SEPTEMBER 5, 1893.

TEMPE ECHOES.

D. J. O. Leary, the San Francisco Journal of Commerce representative is in the city.

Several bicyclists from Phoenix visited the burg yesterday and then took a spin up to Mesa.

Dr. S. C. Heineman, who has been absent in California for several weeks, returned yesterday.

The elite of the Mexican population are making elaborate preparations for a grand ball to be given the 16th of this month.

With the opening of the Normal school the social season begins and we may now look for a series of balls and parties.

Miss Adine Bury is again with us again after spending several pleasant weeks rusticated in Minnehaha Falls. She will attend the Normal this term.

Robert Goodwin is laid up in bed from injuries received by a mesquite thorn penetrating his leg. He is suffering acutely from pain but expects to be around again in a few days.

Roscoe Walworth has returned from a trip to Chicago. The young man saw everything that was on exhibition at the fair, and says he has learned more there than he could learn at school for some time.

Dr. A. Trippel passed through Tempe this morning en route to the Phoenix mine at which he has been appointed superintendent. The doctor has for several years been superintendent of the Old Dominion Copper Company at Globe, and is an expert mining engineer.

Fred Riley, who has for the past two months had charge of the branch store of the Arizona Hardware Co., at Mesa City, during the absence of Henry Eicheberger in the east, has returned to the company's store in this city. His many friends are pleased to see him in his accustomed place.

The Territorial Normal school opened up yesterday morning with a very good attendance of pupils. The majority are last term scholars but there are also many new ones and in a few days the seating capacity of the school will be taxed to its utmost. The interest manifested in the school people throughout the territory is very gratifying to the faculty and they expect to have a much larger attendance this year than the previous term.

The Indians are having a great time across the river, the occasion being a Luna dance (Moon). Several hundred Indians from the Sacaton agency have arrived and combined with the valley Indians will participate in a dance unique and highly interesting to those who have never witnessed the like before. An Indian dances to music furnished by some rude instrument until from sheer exhaustion he drops and his place is taken by another until he too falls and so on. Three days and nights the dancing will be kept up.

Major R. Allyn Lewis arrived in the city Saturday night and was the guest of Dr. Chas. H. Jones, the assistant surgeon of the First battalion and ranking as first lieutenant. The major gave Company C an inspection yesterday morning and expressed himself as being well pleased with the result and complimented them highly. Much credit is due Lieutenant Mullen, the commanding officer of the company, for the able manner in which he has drilled the boys. The major has fond hopes of the company being the best drilled company in the territory at the rate they are going. At the conclusion of the inspection yesterday three rousing cheers were given for Major Lewis with great good will, as he is very popular with the boys of Company C.

THE ATTRACTIONS OF GOLF.
An English Authority Says It's a Stunning Game for Men of Mature Years.

In one sense golf may be taken as a protest against the "constitutional"—that mere aimless walk which is equally distasteful to the active and the infirm. Like an unfenced hunting country, says the London Field, the golf links offer a fitting area for recreation to those who are no longer what they once were, and who are no longer equal to holding their own against the more lightly weighted youth. The hunting man who has erstwhile led the way over the broad pastures of the Shires, frequently takes refuge, in his maturer years, in a plow country wherein hounds run less fast; and eventually, perhaps, is found hunting on the Brighton Downs, where, freed from the overcast of his nerves at having to jump fences, his eye for a country may stand him in good stead. To all of us there comes a time when we must say with the Latin poet: "I am not what I once was; and when that moment arrives we must look out, unless we would fathom the depths of foggydom, for such amusements as may call for no more vigor than we can conveniently put forth. In this particular golf comes happily to the rescue. It appeals to the man of somewhat lazy proclivities, as well as to him who is past his prime, either by reason of the weight of years or by having to follow a sedentary occupation. With the advantages of genial companionship, an inducement not to loiter by the way, yet without the necessity to run as though the last train were about to start, golf holds a place to which possibly no other amusement can lay claim; and the number of its devotees of the class we have mentioned in its best testimonial.

The Sun Never Sets on Our Country.
Taking the most eastern island of Maine as our eastern boundary and the most western island of the Aleutian chain as our western boundary it is calculated that at the present time the sun does not disappear from the latter until it begins to appear on the former. But it is allowed that it is a very close call.

THAT policemen in citizens' clothes are recognized by their shoes by New York sharpers.

THAT two-thirds of the gold now in use in the world was discovered during the last fifty years.

THAT twelve years ago one sailor in every 106 who went to sea lost his life; now only one in 256 is lost.

The Mexican club of Tempe is making extensive preparations to give a grand ball at Daggs' hall on the evening of Sept. 16, in honor of the Eighty-first Anniversary of the Independence of Mexico.

Mesa Department.

MESA CITY, ARIZONA, SEPTEMBER 5, 1893.

MESA NOTES.

J. F. McKemie, agent for a hardware firm in Tucson, is in Mesa.

Orlando Merrill drove up to Mesa yesterday morning from his Lehi home on business.

Mr. Stainhower came up from Phoenix Saturday to stay with us. He purchased a twenty-acre piece of land just west of the city.

George Mintz of Phoenix and W. A. Coy paid Mesa a visit Saturday and returned Sunday. Mr. Coy is one of the faculty that will have charge of the district school of Mesa the coming year.

J. McAnderson, special agent for California insurance companies, paid Mesa a visit today. He says there is lots of talk there about the Salt River valley and from what he can find out the country bears out the reports.

M. Kucks opened his restaurant yesterday. Everything is fitted up and is to run in regular Los Angeles style. Mr. Kuck is an experienced hand at that kind of business and intends to make it a place where all can be accommodated.

Dr. A. Triffel of Mesa returned yesterday morning from the Phoenix mine where he had been doing some work of inspection for the company. Mr. Triffel is one of our most progressive citizens and is building up a business that is a credit to anyone.

Miss Nellie Graham left Mesa Saturday for a visit to her home in Columbus, Nebraska. Miss Graham came here a few months ago for her health, having lung trouble, believing that our fresh, dry, exhilarating atmosphere and climate would help her, as it had dozens of others, and she was not mistaken. Her health has improved wonderfully since arriving and she intends to come back in a couple of months, in time to escape the cold northern winter.

DANGER IN PUNGENT ODORS.

Smelling Salts Injurious to the Olfactory Nerves and a Cause of Deafness.

Every one does not know that aromatic salts and very strong, pungent odors are injurious to the nerves of smell and often produce serious if not incurable difficulties. It is well understood, says a writer in the Philadelphia Times, that certain scents start the action of the secretory glands of the nose and throat, and often the eyes fill up with tears. Frequent indulgence in the use of such perfumes will soon overtake the secretory organs and weaken them. Some day the person observes that the hearing is less acute than usual and the sense of smell seems defective. This is of course accredited to a cold or some similar cause and but little is thought of it. After a time the entire head becomes affected, hearing and smell are almost if not entirely lacking, and there are throat and lung complications which are likely to end in chronic, if not fatal, illness. It has taken the medical world a great many years to discover that loss of hearing is almost invariably caused by some disease of the throat or nose, or both. But very recent researches in these fields have demonstrated this fact beyond question, and it is now admitted by the most advanced medical men that, aside from rupture of the ear drum, there is scarcely a symptom of defective hearing which is not traceable directly to the condition of the nose and throat. In view of the new discoveries ear specialists are finding their occupations gone, save as they make their particular branch an assistant in further investigation. It is said that the use of smelling salts is one of the most prolific causes of deafness, operating by weakening the olfactory nerves, and through them the auditory system. All strong or pungent odors should be avoided as far as possible, especially those which act upon the secretory processes, and, as the popular expression goes, "make the nose run."

STRANGE AND CURIOUS.

DURING a cyclone in Oxford, N. C., a two-room dwelling was carried off 200 yards without injuring the occupants.

A TRAINED elephant in the Manchester (England) "zoo" drops a penny in the slot and takes out a biscuit. The visitors supply the pennies. The elephant will not accept any other coin.

ALABAMA comes to the front with a woman who was struck by lightning seven years ago, has never spoken since, and whose eyes grow "luridly brilliant" at the approach of a thunderstorm.

FRANK AUSTIN, of Eckery, Ind., had a collie dog that was very fond of him. He was going on a journey the other day, and the dog wanted to accompany him. Austin drove him from the train and the dog was so dejected that he lay before the engine, and the train passed over him.
